

Edgcumbe College

Covid-19 Important Update

- ✚ School continues over next two weeks
- ✚ Holidays Start at Easter
- ✚ Classes on Google Classroom
- ✚ College emails for all messages and communication

As the nationwide lockdown goes into effect at midnight tonight, our school starts on-line home-based learning from tomorrow Thursday.

Note that Edgcumbe College will be continuing Term 1 learning without a break and finishing at Easter on Thursday 8th April. Our two-week holidays will then begin with Term 2 starting on Tuesday 28th April. (Monday 27th off for Anzac observance).

We are continuing with learning and not breaking next week because we are all prepared and ready to go. Our families are ready and children keen to learn now.

The main delivery for classes at all levels is Google Classroom and each student will be invited to join the class through their Edgcumbe College email. Note – check your Junk/Spam email folder in case messages end up there. The Timetable and Lines are included.

Our school is not only going all out to keep the learning programme going – we are also establishing pastoral and support networks for children through Kaiarahi, Kaitiaki and the Guidance Counsellor. You will be advised via email about this service. Keeping ourselves safe and connected through this testing time.

From midnight tonight the school is fully closed for the next four weeks – physically. But fully open offsite and electronically for learning, communication and support. All the best and stick together (but apart).

Students need to check their school emails. Invitations to join Google Classrooms will come this way (if you have not already joined).

Parents, please check your junk/spam folders. Some mass mail out of invitations to join your child's Google Classroom may be directed there.
